Lausche Says Rock Can't Ignore Call

Sen. Frank J. Lausche today said that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller can't turn down the GOP vice presidential nomination "with honor."

The senator stopped at The Circleville Herald today en route to the Jackson County Fair, at Wellston.

He said that no man should consider himself too big for the post as vice president of the United States. If a man refuses he is showing too much pride and arrogance, Lausche said.

The robust, friendly Clevelander first question was "What's bothering people here?" The answer was: "Farm prices."

Sen. Lausche had no solution. He explained the operation of the farm program, then said, "People never hear of the subsidies given industry and transportation. All they ever talk about is farm subsidies."

"I WAS for Stevenson for the Democratic nomination," Lausche declared. He said that Stevenson has been subjected to the "pushes and pulls" of being a chief executive. "I was for him because of his ability to run the government. No legislator has to stand up to make a decision like a chief executive does."

He stated that no party should wait a platform merely to get votes. "It should not promise things that can't be achieved," he said.

Sen. Lausche reported that he was convinced before the Democratic convention that the ticket would be either Johnson-Kennedy or Kennedy-Johnson.

The veteran politician recalled visits to Circleville and mentioned that he might try to attend this year's Pumpkin Show.

He said he visited here one time with a Life photographer and attended a livestock auction. He said he posed for the man during the sale and put up his hand on instructions from the photographer. "The auctioneer banged down his hand and said 'Sold to Mayor Lausche'. I had to tell them that I was merely posing and didn't want to buy a steer."

Sen. Lausche said that Ohio

farmers' switch to support of wheat controls for the first time in eight years indicates farmers "are in trouble. They need help," he said.

He asked about Hargus Memorial Lake and wanted to know if it is satisfactory. He recalled that he at one time had much correspondence with Pickaway County regarding the lake.

"One time when I was here for the Pumpkin Show I witnessed a parade from atop the stand. When I went down to the street many people surged around me to shake my hand. They all grabbed for a hand and in the shuffle I stepped back. There were two strangers shaking hands and I was missed. You should have seen their faces." He laughed and headed for Wellston.

Chrysler Officials' Outside Business Interests Probed

DETROIT (AP) — Board Chairman L. L. Colbert of Chrysler Corp. said today an investigation is continuing into outside business interest of officials of the automobile company.

The probe was disclosed suddenly Thursday with the announcement by the board of directors in New York that William C. Newberg had agreed to pay Chrysler more than $450,000 in profits made by him from interests in companies which sell to Chrysler.

Newberg quit as Chrysler president June 30 after holding the job only 64 days. At that time it was said only that there were differences of opinion on matters of corp rate policy.

Various reports circulated in Detroit regarding the reasons, but both Chrysler and Newberg remained absolutely mum until Thursday's announcement.

Thursday night, when Colbert returned to Detroit, he told newsmen the investigation will be continued by the company's general counsel, the New York Law firm of Kelley, Drye, Newhall & Maginnis, along with independent auditors.

He was asked if other Chrysler officials were involved.

"I know of no one at this time," he said. "Let's not get into that."

Three months ago at the Chrysler annual stockholders' meeting Colbert, the president of the company, said "I would like to understand that I do not own nor have I ever owned any interest, stock or otherwise, in any of our vendors." Neither did any of his family, he said, and to his knowledge neither did any of other officers or directors of Chrysler.

Chrysler and Newberg refused to identify any of the suppliers involved. Newberg, through an attorney, issued a statement saying he saw nothing wrong with his dealings, but he refused to say what the dealings were.

51 Flags Unfurled At Scout Jamboree

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Band music sifted across the camp ground, and aerial bombs exploded today as 51 flags were raised high over the sprawling site of the National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America.

The flags represented each of the 50 states, plus the red, white and blue flag of the nation complete with 50 stars.

The flag-raising ceremony, with thousands of Boy Scouts watching from the hillside overlooking the 2,400-acre camp site, officially opened the fifth jamboree for 56,078 scouts.

The music, played by the 120-member Central Indiana Council Band of Indianapolis, was indicative of the period in which various states joined the union.

Officer Barton Races BIS Escapee And Wins--(Many Hairs Raised En Route)

City Patrolman Wesley Barton holds the firm conviction today that chasing a stolen car from Circleville to Chillicothe in a north-bound lane of traffic shouldn't be an every day duty.

Patrolman Barton had this harrowing experience last night. Probably recorded as the weirdest pursuit on record here, Barton chased the stolen auto the entire distance from here south to Chillicothe on Route 23's north-bound lanes.

Driver of the stolen car, an escapee from the Lancaster Boys' Industrial School, finally was apprehended on Route 50 about six miles west of Chillicothe.

Patrolman Barton said the chase ended about 14 minutes after it started in Circleville and about 26 miles from the starting point.

Plenty of excitement transpired in the 14 minutes and 26 miles. The fleeing auto crashed four different roadblocks hastily set up by lawmen, passed about 40 vehicles coming north on Route 23, was chased by eight law enforcement cruisers, was the target for about 12 pistol shots. The car blew up and the pursuit ended.

The 17-year-old BIS escapee said he stole the car yesterday in Sugar Grove near Lancaster. He said he was headed for his home in Middletown before the episode with Patrolman Barton.

According to Barton, the stage was set for the action-packed chase here at 2:25 a. m. today when he observed the stolen auto pass a red light at Franklin and Pickaway Sts.

The patrolman said he pulled the car over to the curb in front of the courthouse on Court St. He said the driver suddenly zoomed away as he was getting out of his cruiser to issue a citation.

The escape-bound car turned right on W. Mound St., hurdled the steep railroad crossing on Mound St. at about 60 miles per hour, then made an illegal left turn at the end of the street to get onto the Route 23 bypass. Barton, close behind, also turned south at the bypass in order not to lose sight of the vehicle.

Barton said the 1961 model stolen car reached speeds of more than 100 miles per hour. He said drivers of vehicles headed north looked on in astonishment.

The young BIS escapee crashed his first roadblock, set up by the State Highway Patrol, about three miles north of the Pickaway-Ross County line.

Barton said the onrushing car got around a Ross County Sheriff's block at the county line, zoomed past another State Highway Patrol obstacle two miles north of Chillicothe, then turned on the gas to pass another roadblock set up by Chillicothe Police at the corporation line.

The local policeman said a flurry of shots by Chillicothe officers failed to halt the auto.

Barton said the pursued auto finally got on the southbound lane near the Chillicothe city limits. He said the car then made a quick turn onto Route 50 and headed west.

The patrolman said he fired two shots at the car west of Chillicothe. The chase finally halted when the stolen auto blew up and ran into a ditch. The officer said oil splattered the windshield of his cruiser, making it difficult to see the highway.

The youth quickly surrendered. He was brought back to Circleville to spend the rest of the night, then released to BIS authorities at 9:30 a. m. today.

Barton said three bullet holes were found in the auto. He said the youth didn't seem to be shaken or excited over the fast-moving ordeal or the volley of shots.

According to records, the youth was committed to BIS for taking money from a service station. He escaped yesterday afternoon and drove the stolen car to Logan where he sold a spare tire and about $100 worth of baseball equipment found in the auto. He then headed toward Chillicothe.

Police Chief Robert Temple and Patrolman Barton expressed thanks to the State Highway Patrol, the Pickaway and Ross County Sheriffs Departments and Chillicothe Police for their quick response to radio messages asking for assistance.

Barton, still more than a little nervous at 8 a. m. today, said he hopes he has made his last trip headed north in a southbound traffic lane. He was riding by himself during the chase.

Blaze Siege Said Worst In 30 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From British Columbia to Mexico, from the Pacific to the Rockies, hundreds of fires destroyed forests, watersheds, and homes today.

Interior Department officials called the roaring conflagrations the worst in the West in 30 years. They were the worst ever in many areas.

As exhausted men battled the flames in nine states and a Canadian province, urgent calls for help were issued. Response came from as far east as Pennsylvania.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho declared an extreme emergency existed in his state and asked President Eisenhower to recognize Idaho as a major disaster area.

Regional Forester Floyd Iverson of Ogden, Utah, said, "We think there is a possibility of arson in the Idaho fires and we are investigating." Iverson said the FBI is helping.

Enormous Los Angeles County—the country's largest—declared itself a disaster area, calling the fire outbreak its worst in history.

Flames roared on through other wooded areas of California and Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, Arizona and British Columbia.

With millions of dollars of damage already estimated, the appalling news from most areas was that the fire intensity was increasing steadily.

In Idaho's Boise National Forest, Supervisor Howard Ahlskog estimated the toll may reach 20,000 acres. Hot, dry, windy weather was forecast today, and 900 men launched an all-out effort to control one of the state's two biggest fires, about 30 miles east of Boise.

A 3,000-acre fire in western Idaho's Payette National Forest, out of control since Tuesday, raged on unchecked.

The best news from the vicinity came from the Idaho-Oregon border where an enormous blaze was reported controlled late Thursday night after devastating some 30,000 acres of range land.

A 4,000-acre fire on Rattlesnake Mountain crackled to within a mile of Shoshone National Forest's great timber stands west of Cody, Wyo. Supervisor Ed Pierson of the Bureau of Land Management said at the scene, "Conditions couldn't be worse."

Efforts were hampered by tourists who clogged roads.

In Montana's Bitter Root National Forest a fire licked hungrily on through Lost Trail Pass after consuming more than 1,000 acres near Missoula. Other blazes roared unchecked at Gold Creek and in the central plateau of Yellowstone National Park.

Smoke billows dense and black over 110,000 acres of California's forest and grasslands from the Los Angeles area to the Oregon line.

Freak winds in the Sunland-Tujunga area drove flames across the parched valley between the Verdugo and San Gabriel Mountain ranges, destroying many homes.

Hundreds of residents grabbed pets and a few possessions and fled. Evacuees were housed in makeshift dormitories.

The toll of 61,000 blackened southern California acres was the worst in the booming area's history.

Officials estimate more than 10 million dollars damage in the San Dimas sector of Angeles National Forest, where 20,000 acres were consumed and the flames

Judge Deplores

Jailing of Nude

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Judge Rodney Weiss said Thursday it was "repulsive and barbaric" to jail stripper Clarice Annell overnight in the nude.

He dismissed charges of performing a lewd act, resisting arrest and disturbing the peace, filed against the dancer. The city will appeal.

Clarice, 27, was dragged away screaming and kicking from her night club act by three detectives Wednesday night.

The detectives carried her off the paddy wagon clad only in a feather hair and there and handcuffed.

At the station house a matron took the costume for evidence. Then Clarice, wearing only spike heeled shoes was clapped into a cell.

U.N. Council Again Calls for Belgian Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The U. N. Security Council early today made its second demand in nine days that Belgian troops get out of the Congo and give way to the new U. N. military force. The Soviet Union dropped an attempt to set a three-day deadline for the pullout.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov joined in a unanimous vote for a Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution that called on Belgium to withdraw its forces speedily from the new African republic.

The resolution backed up the Council resolution of July 14 sending the U. N. force to the chaotic central African nation and calling for the Belgian withdrawal.

In Leopoldville, Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba expressed thanks to the U. N. for its quick action and said there is no longer any need for Soviet military aid. He made the statement as he departed for New York and conferences with U. N. officials on the Congo's economic problems.

Government circles in Brussels indicated the Belgian government still planned to pull the troops back to Belgium's two military bases in the Congo—Kitona and Kamina—and not pull them out of the country. These sources said the resolution did not call for total withdrawal from the Congo and pointed out it did not mention the bases, which Belgium retained under a friendship and assistance treaty she signed with the new Congo government when independence was granted.

Later today, the Soviet is expected to launch its campaign in the Security Council against American spy planes.

The attack was expected to touch off a major cold war clash with the United States, which will reply Monday.

President Eisenhower instructed U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to hit back hard in accordance with Washington's tough new line toward Soviet threats and accusations.

One of the Kremlin's top diplomats, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, was to deliver a detailed, all-afternoon speech which Soviet sources said would conclude with a demand for condemnation of the United States as an aggressor.

The Soviet complaint to the Council was titled "New aggressive acts by the Air Force of the United States against the Soviet Union, creating a threat to universal peace."

The complaint grew out of the shooting down of a U. S. RB47 reconnaissance plane over the Barents Sea by a Soviet jet fighter July 1. The Soviet Union charged that the aircraft was over Soviet waters on an espionage mission.

The Russians are holding two of the plane's six crewmen and are expected to try them as spies. The Russians recovered the body of the plane's pilot, and the other three crewmen are missing.

The United States claims the plane was surveying magnetic lines of force in arctic waters for mapping and was not down over international waters. The State Department said it was never closer than 30 miles to shore.

Taft Republican Wing Won't Support Lodge for 2nd Spot

CHICAGO (AP) — Conservative Republicans raised echoes of the 1952 Taft-Eisenhower battle today in opposition to the possible choice of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as the GOP vice presidential candidate. Lodge, now serving as United Nations ambassador, is reported high up on a brief personal list from which Vice President Richard M. Nixon plans to choose his running mate, provided all goes well and Nixon gets the presidential nomination he expects.

Among the practical politicians gathering here for next week's week's convention there is no shadow of a doubt that once Nixon has named his man the delegates in the end will accept him. But many thought there still is time left to influence Nixon's judgment.

In this connection, Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee state chairman, said he has found strong opposition among backers of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio to having Lodge on the ticket.

Reece said the Taft men, who still form a considerable wing of the party, have tabbed Lodge as the originator of the Texas delegate "steal" charges that were used by President Eisenhower's associates in the 1952 convention maneuvering.

Ralph F. Gates, Indiana national committeeman, said he has been told that the Republican ticket might lose some important midland newspaper support if Lodge is named. He said this was based on opposition to Lodge's so-called internationalist views.

John T. Diederich, Kentucky committeeman, is booming home-state Sen. Thurston B. Morton, the GOP national chairman, for second place on the ticket. Diederich said he had encountered opposition to Lodge from some Taft Republicans.

Some Midwestwesterners are opposing the choice of either Lodge or Morton. They contend the election may turn on how the midland states go, and they want one of their own on the ticket with Nixon.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois told a news Conference Thursday he thinks there ought to be an open-convention choice of Nixon's running mate. Stratton pushed for a Middle Western candidate for second place.

Among others he named Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, House GOP Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton, Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan, and Maurice Stans, director of the budget and a Chicagoan.

Friends of Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) are steaming up sentiment for him for the vice presidential nomination. Goldwater has about 30 convention votes pledged to him for top place on the ticket but says he won't get either nomination.

A Republican strategist said, however, that if the choice were left to the convention delegates, he believes the Conservative Arizona senator would give any of the other aspirants a run for his money.

U.S. Launches Policy To Call Russian Bluffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has embarked on a policy of calling the Soviet Union's bluff each time it believes Kremlin leaders are threatening action they never will dare carry out.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter disclosed that tough new line Thursday in blasting Soviet threats to send troops to the violence-racked Congo.

At the same time, President Eisenhower's call for resumption of disarmament talks is viewed here to be part of U. S. strategy to put the Russians on the defensive.

Abandoning his usual diplomatic caution, Herter bluntly assailed as a reckless bluff Moscow's widely advertised claims that it wants to help stamp out what it calls Western imperialism in the new African republic.

Herter pledged that the United States will press ahead with all-out moral and material support for United Nations efforts to end the violence, regardless of Soviet threats.

Responsible diplomatic authorities said today more firm rejoiners of this kind can be expected from administration leaders in handling Moscow's virtually unprecedented campaign of threats, protests, insults and propaganda.

This reflects a high-level administration belief that the Soviet threats represent more phony bluster than menace. It is believed that in all of Moscow's output so far, threats have been carefully hedged to sound frightening without committing the Soviet Union to action.

The call-the-bluff policy will carry one step farther the administration's determination to fire back tough and fast at Moscow's anti-American propaganda thrusts.

Administration leaders are reported convinced that stern language, backed up by a readiness to act to protect vital interests, offers the best hope of compelling the Kremlin to call off its campaign.

Risks are involved in any such strategy, they acknowledged. But they said there is no alternative. They said mildly worded answers or hesitation may be viewed by the Kremlin as signs of weakness and confusion in a United States seemingly preoccupied with an election campaign.

Top officials are under instruction to be firm but to avoid unnecessary bluster and overly belligerent rejoinders. While slugging it out in the propaganda arena, the administration intends to keep the door ajar for a renewal of businesslike East-West negotiations to ease outstanding international disputes.

In talking to newsmen Thursday Herter attacked Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's remarks about the Congo. Herter said that while the rest of the United Nations is seeking to calm the disorders, Khrushchev is deliberately instigating new violence by his "reckless, irresponsible threats."

New Jap Premier OKs U.S. Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's new Prime Minister, Hayato Ikeda, said today he is satisfied with American trade policy toward Japan.

Ikeda also ruled out any immediate new parliamentary elections in Japan and denied any intention of seeking revisions of the controversial U. S.-Japanese security treaty, two things demanded by the left-wing demonstrators who forced the resignation of his predecessor, Nobusuke Kishi.

The bespectacled, conservative Ikeda, who took office last week, at a news conference expressed his deep regret for the violence which led to the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit in June.

Tetanus Immunization Prevents Painful Injury or Death

Remember when you were a child and went barefoot? Probably your parents told you: "Now don't step on a rusty nail — you might get lockjaw."

Lockjaw, or tetanus, was a real danger — then. Today parents need not fear this ancient disease, provided they are sure to have their children immunized against tetanus.

Most family doctors immunize infants against tetanus in their early months. The protection is given through a three-in-one serum which immunizes against tetanus, whooping cough and diphtheria.

Actually, State Health Department figures show that only a handful of tetanus cases occur annually in Ohio. But immunization is still very important — because a case of tetanus can result in death.

There is some truth to the idea tetanus can be contracted by stepping on a rusty nail. The tetanus germs usually enter the body through such a wound. But the wound can be a very slight, a prick, abrasion, or small cut.

Such a wound, often ignored, quickly seals itself off. And if the tetanus germs are present, they flourish and spread.

Death from tetanus is not a pretty one, for the toxin produced by the germs attacks the central nervous system. Perhaps the closest comparison is death from rabies.

This alone is reason enough for being certain your child is immunized against tetanus. Why chance it when protection is so near at hand, so safe and effective?

Immunization against tetanus is now required under a new law recently enacted by the Ohio Legislature. This law requires that a child entering school show proof of immunization against poliomyelitis, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and vaccination against smallpox.

Circleville school system children, financially unable to have their family doctor administer these immunizations, may receive them from the City Health office.

Immunizations for indigent children will be administered at the City Health office every Monday and Friday until school starts this fall.

Starting in the 1960-61 school year, no pupil will be admitted to any city school without an immunization record, showing completion of all necessary injections.

Written evidence, satisfactory to the teacher in charge of admission, must be shown that the pupil has received, or is in the process of receiving immunization against poliomyelitis, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

During the past five years the first five grades have received their required immunizations, making it necessary to start checking immunizations with the sixth grades and up this fall.

Cost of Living Still Going Up

Index Chalks Another All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living climbed one-fifth of one per cent in June to its fourth consecutive high, the Labor Department reported today.

Food prices—Mainly fresh fruits and pork—contributed virtually all the rise, the department said, but gasoline prices helped provide an upward shove.

The consumer price index reached a level of 126.5 per cent in the 1947-49 average. This was two points higher than a year ago and, in percentage terms, represented a drop in the buying power of the dollar of more than 1½ cents in the past 12 months.

Some 600,000 workers will receive wage boosts under escalator wage contracts which compensate for climbing living costs.

Adjustments will bring increases averaging two cents an hour to workers of General Electric Co. and one cent to employees of Sylvania Electric, Douglas Aircraft, and McDonnell Aircraft.

The possibility that living costs may stay fairly steady this month was held out by Arnold Chase, chief of the price division of the Bureau of Labor statistics.

After July, Chase said, a seasonal decline in food prices should occur, and "we could get some decline in the index after this month."

Despite the over-all rise in the living costs of city families, a number of prices declined in June. Fresh vegetables and eggs went down, new car prices dropped almost one per cent, and the prices of major home appliances decreased for the fifth month in a row.

The spendable earnings of factory workers edged up 18 cents a week, or two-tenths of one per cent.

This brought the take-home pay, after deduction of income and social security taxes, to $1.59 per week for a worker with three dependents and $74.03 for a worker without dependents.

The rise was attributed to an increase of one-tenth of an hour in the factory work week, but it brought the average worker no increase in buying power because of the offsetting rise in consumer prices.

Herter Said Wrong In Cuba Appraisal

HAVANA (AP)—European diplomats and others who know Cuba disagree with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's claim that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime is not happy over the Soviet promise to defend this island if the United States attacks.

There is no evidence to support the view expressed by Herter at his news conference Thursday, one European diplomat said.

"If there is anyone in the Cuban government wary of the embrace of the Russian bear, he hasn't made his view known and would be smart not to," the diplomat said.

God Wants Steadfast Love

GOD'S UNCEASING LOVE FOR HIS PEOPLE AND HIS ANGUISH WHEN THEY FORSAKE HIM

Scripture—Hosea 1:1-4; 5: 5:15—6:4.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
In Peloubet's Select Notes,
the Rev. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith writes: "The name Hosea probably means 'help,' and is derived from a Hebrew word meaning 'to save.' His ministry was almost exclusively not in Judah, where most of the minor prophets labored, but in the Northern Kingdom, Israel. He is described as the son of Beeri, of whom we know nothing further."

The first words of our lesson tell of Hosea's tragic history in his domestic life. Quoting again from Peloubet's Select Notes, we read that "Hosea prophesied in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, king of

The Lord also said: "I will go and return to My place, till they acknowledge their offence, and seek My face: in their affliction they will seek Me early."— Hosea 5:15.

Do we forget God and His Son Jesus Christ unless we are in trouble? We must love them and show that we do by our daily acts and by our prayers to them for guidance.

"Come, and let us return unto the Lord: for He hath torn, and He will heal us; He hath smitten, and He will bind us up. After two days will He revive us: in the third day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight."—Hosea 6:1-2.

"Then shall we know, if we commandments, always."—Deuteronomy 10:1.

Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, the son of Joash."

The word of the Lord that came unto Hosea was to tell His people: "Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel;
for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

"By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, they break out, and blood toucheth blood.
Therefore shall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth therein shall languish, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowls of heaven; yea, the fishes of the sea shall also be taken away."—Hosea 4:1-3.

Continuing Idle Pay List Grows in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A combination of factors accounts for continued fluctuation in Ohio's employment picture, noted in figures released by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

Claims of those newly unemployed dropped sharply—from 24, 595 to 17,399 in the week ended
July 16—while continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more climbed from 92,394 to 103, 866.

Automobile model changes, the comparative inactivity in the steel industry, and plant shutdowns for vacation periods and other reasons are the chief factors in the chang-

New claims in the week of July 9, which jumped from 18,517 to 24,595, reflected conditions of the previous holiday week. In that period, some plants closed for the entire week for vacation periods.
But since some employees of these plants were not entitled to vacations because of short employment records, they were entitled to file for unemployment compensation.

In the Cleveland area, contin-ing claims in the week of July 16 jumped from 16,463 to 18,124; in the Canton area from 4,908 to

Oberlin College Plans $6½ Million Fund Drive

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Walter
K. Bailey of Cleveland, an alumnus and trustee of Oberlin College, is national chairman of the college's drive to raise 6½ million dollars for building purposes. An estimated $2,600,000 will be used for a new science building and about $3,650,000 will be spent for a new group of buildings for the conservatory of music.

Bailey, president of a machine tool company, was national chairman of a campaign in the early 1950s which raised nearly two million dollars for a new humanities building.

Southern Baptists Provide Isolated Missions Readily

ATLANTA (AP)—A marble polisher in Tampa, Fla., lost his job and moved to his wife's native town of Rochester, N.Y., to find work.

The couple's Tampa pastor, finding that Rochester had no
Southern Baptist church, wrote the Baptist Mission Board. An area missionary was called, which led in short order to the establishment of a mission and, ultimately, a Southern Baptist church.

Thirty-five Southern Baptist members of an Air Force bomber wing, transferred from Roswell, N.M., to Portsmouth, N. H., found themselves without a church.
They made contact with an area missionary and soon had themselves a place of worship.

The process is being repeated with variations hundreds of times in the pioneer areas of the Southern Baptist Church.

In 1941, Southern Baptists started a movement called Pioneer Missions, operated by the Home Mission Board, with headquarters in Atlanta. At that time there were Southern Baptist churches in 19 states. Today there are churches or missions in every state except Hawaii.

Oil Firm Chieftain Hails Ohio Valley

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—The Ohio Valley could be a future giant of America's chemical industry, Paul
G. Blazer says.

Blazer, founder of Ashland Oil & Refining Co., made the remark Tuesday after groundbreaking ceremonies for a new petrochemical unit.

He said it costs only a half cent per gallon to transport crude oil by water from New Orleans to Ashland.

For the same price, he said,
petroleum products can be shipped from Ashland to any point along the 1,000-mile Ohio River.

Blazer urged chemical business officials to give the Ohio Valley strong consideration when planning a new plant.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall has ruled that Battelle Memorial Institute has been engaging in the unauthorized practice of law, and enjoined the private research organization from such activities.

An unauthorized practice of law committee brought the charge against the corporation. It con-guilty of unauthorized legal prac-

Reds Want Easy Conquest

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld of the United Nations wants the dust to settle before the international disarmament question is thrust into the lap of that body's disarmament commission. Nothing useful could be accomplished at this time, he is convinced.

The secretary general's beliefs are certainly plausible. It is difficult to see what could be done at a UN disarmament conference at any near date. The West has presented all the plans it can, and made all the concessions without any practical responses from the communists. The reds haven't even twitched.

All they say is that they want total disarmament, but without any policing of disarmament. Then they step up the tempo of the propaganda charge that the West is opposed to disarming.

At the first meeting of the UN group, which probably will be held in the late summer, this situation will be presented. It is difficult to see anything happening then except the unleashing of another propaganda barrage by the Russians.

This is not to say that the reds do not have a keen interest in disarmament. On the contrary. They want the free world to disarm to make the communist goal of world conquest easier to attain.

Ruined: One Perfectly Good Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it happened again.

Yep, this morning. The day started off swell? I hit the alarm clock—that mechanical bird in my boudoir—with the first flung shoe, and it fell over and said "gleep."

The shining sun heralded the advent of another morning of challenge.

Time has taught me the better part of valor is to take the challenge of each fresh today lying down as long as possible. I like to lie there and in my mind preview the potentialities of the day and its probable ambushes.

Well, this morning I couldn't foresee any possible ambushes. The weather was fine, the rent wasn't due, the cat wasn't scratching my daughter and I could hear my wife humming in the kitchen.

She still hums that old tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," and after 23 years of marriage I still wonder who she really has in mind.

Well, I got up and showered and the water was just the right temperature. And I shaved and the razor blade was sharp against the whiskers but didn't cut the skin.

The day looked better and better. I pulled on my socks and pants and shoes and started humming loud enough to be heard in the kitchen. "I'm getting sentimental over you-oo, too-oo."

Then it happened. Yes, it happened again.

I bent down and tugged a shirt from the drawer, removed it from its pristine cellophane and cardboard container, and started to don it.

Don't it? It was like trying to buckle on armor plate. The shirt was stiff enough to stand on its tail. The cuffs as I fought my fists through them fought back with a white firmness.

I stalked into the kitchen and confronted my wife in majestic silence.

"What's the matter now—did you break a shoe lace?" she asked.

"No, Starch!"

"Not starch!" Frances exclaimed. "Not starch again!"

"Yes, starch! Again... and again... and again!"

"We have a new laundryman," said my wife. "He didn't know you don't like starch in your shirts."

"That is the excuse my father used to get from my mother and I first heard it when I was 3 years old," I told her. "We have been fighting starch in our family for at least three generations."

"Oh, dry up, Rover," said my wife. "What will you have for breakfast?"

"Starch," I told her. "Scrambled starch, shirred starch, hard-boiled starch, soft-boiled starch, fried starch, baked starch."

"Call up the laundry and buy all the starch they have. Cook it and put it on the table. I want to get rid of it all—once and forever."

"I'd rather eat starch than wear it."

The Problem of Lyndon Johnson

By George Sokolsky

Politics is the science of controlling men. A politician must be self-assertive or nobody would know that he exists. He must be positive in his statements or he would have no following. He must be flexible or he would fall with a shift of atmosphere. Whoever expects a politician to be incapable of compromise, is thinking of a theologian or a philosopher, not a person who thrives on handshakes.

Thus we approach the problem of Lyndon Johnson who was looked upon by many Republicans as well as Democrats as a superior person, who set nation above party, who assisted President Eisenhower to put his program through Congress. In fact, he was praised for the great sacrifice he made in sticking to his job in Congress while other Senators were traipsing about the country canvassing for the Democratic nomination.

It is therefore difficult to understand why Lyndon Johnson accepted the nomination for Vice President, particularly in the face of obvious and even noisy opposition. The stories are numerous and the whole truth may not be known for several years.

One account is that after a short telephone conversation, John Kennedy went to Lyndon Johnson's suite and that the two men faced each other alone. This account gives it that Kennedy said that the revolt of the Southerners was serious and the Democratic Party could only be successful if Johnson ran for Vice President; that it would be Johnson's responsibility if the Democrats lost. The story goes that Johnson at first refused on the ground that he preferred to remain Senate Leader; that his wife, his friends, and Sam Rayburn were opposed to the Vice Presidency. However, he permitted himself to be convinced and that Sam Rayburn, who was at first opposed, finally recognized its validity.

This account puts Johnson in the light of a man who sacrificed himself for his party, risking the anger of his friends and associates to save the Kennedy ticket.

The other story is less complimentary. It says that Lyndon Johnson wanted the Vice Presidency. That his first discussion on the subject was with Robert Kennedy and that he said that he was entitled to it because of the showing he made at the Convention and that he could carry the South. Shortly after the conversation with Robert Kennedy, John Kennedy came to Johnson's suite and said that he would have to take the question up with the party leaders. He actually did call to get a meeting of the leaders and they approved.

According to this story, Robert Kennedy subsequently came to Johnson and told Johnson that George Meany, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.O., and Walter Reuther of the United Automobile Workers and Governor Mennen Williams of Michigan were in revolt against Johnson; that the A.D.A. objected to him and that if Johnson wanted to withdraw, he still could.

There is no question as to the opposition to Johnson by the labor groups, the Michigan, District of Columbia and the A.D.A. delegates. This opposition was open for all to see on television and was responsible for the large may vote against Johnson and for the rush on the part of Governor Collins to gavel down the entire discussion. No other candidate for Vice President was nominated.

It is noteworthy that Mrs. Roosevelt did not attend the unity session on Friday night but that Jimmy Roosevelt spoke up for his mother. Since when has Mrs. Roosevelt needed anyone to speak up for her? Secondly, it must be noted that Harry Truman's telegram of congratulations was addressed neither to John Kennedy nor Lyndon Johnson. It was addressed to Governor Collins who presided. It is no secret that Harry Truman is not delighted with the ticket. It is no secret that he wanted to come to Los Angeles to "Give 'em hell!" and was advised not to do it by Sam Rayburn.

This budget is a footnote to the reports from the Convention. There is no doubt that much of it is correct. It is in the nature of politics that deals should be made, the object of which is to put down dissension. For instance, Kennedy's appointment of Adlai Stevenson and Chester Bowles as his joint liaison with the Eisenhower Administration on foreign policy takes care of the Stevenson followers who dislike Kennedy more than any other group does. Apparently everybody is being taken care of.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A MAN FROM Manhattan was sitting in his automobile one Sunday morning in a seaside resort, reading the headlines in the sporting section of the paper he had just bought, when another car rammed into his rear bumper at approximately 40 miles an hour.

The cop who came to investigate promptly placed the blame squarely on the shoulders of the outraged Manhattanite. "But why?" demanded that poor soul. "I'll tell you why," belittled the cop. "The boy who ran into you is the son of the mayor of this town, and I'm engaged to his sister. Any more questions?"

In the pouring rain, an impatient man stood under the marquee of a Park Avenue hotel, trying vainly to spot an unoccupied taxicab. "I've just got to get out to Idlewild Airport," he told the doorman.

"Keep your shirt on, sir," the doorman told him. "In weather like this, those big planes seldom get off the ground on scheduled time." "This one won't," agreed the impatient gent. "I'm the pilot."

Cocktail Party Hints

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

Cocktail parties have become an accepted part of our civilized society. The problem, now, is to keep them civilized.

I have given you some tips in the past about what drinks to stay away from. Martinis, as I have pointed out, will get most persons intoxicated faster than any other alcoholic beverage.

Unfortunately, martinis are a feature of most cocktail parties.

Mixed drinks made with 100 proof bourbon are also pretty potent. Then come wines and beer. Alcoholic content of most beer is about four per cent as compared with 50 per cent for high class bourbon.

So let your conscience by your guide about the drink you select.

Dr. Ancel Keys gives several helpful suggestions in his book, "Eat Well and Stay Healthy", for those of you who frequently are called upon to attend cocktail parties.

I have always advised that you dilute your highball with a good deal of soda or other mix. Dr. Keys goes farther and suggests that taking white wine as a soda is a good way to control the intake of alcohol.

The cocktail party, he cautions, is an enemy of good food and wise dining. Food flavors are dulled and there is usually a tendency to select fatty foods.

Experienced cocktail party goers learn that their staying power can be improved by eating fatty foods. Such foods slow the absorption of alcohol.

The tendency, therefore, is to consume too much fat and too much alcohol. Excesses of both are bad for your general health, as all of you know very well.

Dr. Keys says that munching plain crackers with fish or a small bit of highly-flavored cheese is preferable to gorging yourself on sausage and cheese dips. And he adds: "Resist the temptation to accompany a hilarious group afterwards to a dinner of steak and French fries."

Incidentally, he also offers these suggestions for drinking wine:

"Drink it (don't sip) in gulps large enough to 'chew.' Nibble a little plain bread before you taste the wine. And don't smoke, or even inhale tobacco smoke, or even inhale tobacco smoke from nearby smokers when drinking wine. It tends to spoil the flavor."

Question and Answer

J. C.: What is the cause of a low blood sugar count and is this a serious condition?

Answer: Low blood sugar is usually caused by an overproduction of insulin by the body. This is usually due to glandular disturbance but may also be caused by a tumor of the pancreas or other glands.

In some cases, it is a forerunner of diabetes.

Some patients get "black-out" attacks from low blood sugar and these are dangerous.

Only 2 of 7 SEO Towns Using Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only two of seven water-parched southeast Ohio communities are getting water from the new $900,000 Burr Oak pipeline treatment plant and booster station, the Department of Natural Resources says.

The two communities receiving water are Jacksonville in Athens County and Shawnee in Perry County. Another Athens County community, Glouster, is putting in two pumps, and should be ready to use the water early in August.

New Straitsville in Perry County may be ready by fall and is preparing to let a contract for a distribution system. Officials in Trumble (Athens County) and Murray City (Hocking) are studying financing for distribution systems, the Natural Resources Department added. Hollister in Athens County has made plans only to have water for its schools.

The project was undertaken in an attempt to breathe new economic life into the area. Each community will have a master water meter and pay the Natural Resources Department's Division of Water for the amount consumed.

Cleveland Council Asks Change in Poll Date

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland City Council has approved a charter amendment to switch the municipal primary election from May to October in odd-numbered years.

To become effective in 1961, the change will have to be approved in November by the voters of Cleveland.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most puzzling Republican of 1960 is still New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He dropped his bid for the Republican presidential nomination last December because, he said, the party bosses didn't want him. Apparently they still don't, but a few weeks ago he edged back into the picture by saying he's available.

While he's willing to be drafted for the ticket's No. 1 spot, which he says he feels sure he won't get, he says positively and absolutely he will not accept the vice presidential nomination, which might be offered him.

When he expressed his liberal views before the party's Platform Committee in Chicago this week, he got mild applause. But there was an ovation for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, spokesman for the party's extreme right wing.

Rockefeller said he will campaign actively for the party and the ticket. But at the same time he said he may publicly disagree with official party doctrine during the campaign.

At a time when Republican hit-wigs seem to yearn for unity, he has been a constant irritant by criticizing both the Eisenhower administration and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who seems a sure-shot for the presidential nomination.

Yet in Chicago this week some observers thought they detected some softening in his differences with the administration and Nixon which would seem to be necessary if he's going to campaign for the ticket at all.

Whether this is so—and, if it is, whether Rockefeller is seeking some kind of reconciliation with the more conservative elements of the party—still isn't clear. But one thing seems to be obvious:

In the November elections the difference between a national Republican victory or defeat may be the difference between carrying New York or losing it. The party will be in tough shape if Rockefeller should sit on his hands.

Nevertheless, the party bosses have shown few signs of enthusiasm for the governor, at least to the point of buying his ideas for the platform or giving him the presidential nomination.

He has been a goad to the party, perhaps an embarrassment, with his proposals and his criticisms. His only purpose may have been to try to have a liberalizing effect. Or perhaps he was thinking ahead.

If he's not on this year's ticket and it loses, Rockefeller has laid the groundwork for what might be his own selection as the Republican presidential nominee in 1964.

When Rockefeller said earlier this year he wouldn't consider being No. 2 man on the ticket headed by Nixon, the vice president seemed to be taking him at his word.

Then the Democrats came up with their North-South combination of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, a formidable array of political talent, as Rockefeller acknowledged this week in saying the 1960 campaign would be a tough one.

It was after this that Nixon's unofficial campaign manager, Leonard W. Hall, said that if Rockefeller withdrew his firm stand against second place, he would be open to consideration for the No. 2 spot on the ticket.

But after the cool reception he got in Chicago this week before the Platform Committee, Rockefeller may feel more determined than ever to stay out of the picture altogether since the presidential nomination for him seems out of the question.

Montezuma, the Aztec monarch, never wore the same clothing more than a single day, says an historian. His tailoring bill must have been really king-size!

There are traces of alcohol in the atmosphere—science item. That must be where the poet got the idea of calling a gentle summer breeze "wine-like."

Perhaps there is no connection but we've noticed that Chicago, which seems to get more than its share of political conventions, is popularly known as the Windy City.

What's Exciting? Women Pick Their Own Definition

Who are the most exciting men in Circleville?
A group of women, who shall remain anonymous, recently listed the men whom they think are exciting.
This list is published today in the spirit of good fun and interesting mid-summer reading. We take no responsibility for the choices. We are merely recording the thoughts of the women we interrogated.
The female panel was itself excited by the prospect of having a chance to name men whom they felt excited them without having to reveal their identities.
Next week we hope to have a listing of the women in this community who are the most exciting to a panel of men, also anonymous.
What's exciting? Well, Webster says "to energize, to produce a magnetic field; to call to activity in any way; to arouse to feeling; to stimulate, scintillate and titillate."
IT COULD be charm, warmth, understanding. Regardless, the women we quizzed were told to place their own definition on the word "exciting."
Here's the list, alphabetically:
ROBERT BREHMER, SR.—The epitome of youthful vigor... a real zest for life... hard worker... always busy... a patriarch... rock-like strength of character.
DUDLEY CARPENTER—Strikingly handsome... likes to probe deeply... not afraid of convention... smooth in dress, appearance and voice.
JAMES CARR—Charm... warmth... congenial... all the attributes of a gentleman... an all-around nice guy.
ROBERT HEDGES—A true sportsman... fun-loving... game for anything... he lives it up wherever he is... knows everybody who "is somebody."
WALLACE HIGGINS—True intellectual excitement personified... in this age of "egg heads, here is one who exhilarates and inspires those around him... quiet, and deep.
HAROLD HOTT—Has common touch... comfortable... is personally interested in each person he knows... patient... considerate... women's foibles don't upset him.
DAVID McDONALD—Friendly... aggressive... a business success... fine family... has a permanent and searching interest in civic affairs... definite... not a "yes man" bone in his body.
F. O. Patrick—Appealing good looks... sincere... has an air of quiet friendliness... kindly smile... gracious.
RICHARD PLUM—Knows no strangers... a picture father and husband... knows his business, like it, and is successful.
C. F. REPLOGLE—Physically attractive... vital... has wealth of charm... busy... enterprising.
L. D. Varble—An easy charm... attentive... superb conversationalist... extremely handsome... fine sartorial taste... deep-seated drive for community progress.
T. D. VAN CAMP—A son like every mother wishes she had... kind... unassuming... he listens to you... above all, good looking.
D. A. (AD) YATES—A commanding presence... when he enters a room, everyone knows it... jolly... crisp wit... enthusiasm.
GEORGE YOUNG—Gentle... sparkling wit... tall, dark and handsome... thoughtful... has abundance of savoir-faire.
PASTOR CARL ZEHNER—Likes people... people like him... hard worker for community and his parish... has outdoor man's vitality and indoor man's introspection.

American Writer To Visit Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—A writer for Cowles publications has received a passport for travel in Communist China and may already be there, State Department officials said today.
They said that Edgar Snow presented a Red Chinese visa describing him as a writer, going to the China mainland as the guest of a New Zealand journalist living there.
The State Department, officials said, validated Snow's passport enabling him to visit Communist China.

Ike Polishing Convention Talk

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower plans more work on the address he will make to the Republican National Convention in Chicago next Tuesday night.

He also instructed aides to keep him closely posted on any developments in the Congo crisis, particularly regarding the possibility of that strife-ridden nation inviting Soviet forces to help restore order.

The summer White House reported Wednesday that Eisenhower had talked by telephone with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington about reports the Congo government might call for Soviet intervention.

The proposed 1961 budget is 2.1 per cent higher than this year's. If approved at a public hearing after 10 days, the budget will mean a tax increase of 20 cents per 1,000 valuation, due to county indebtedness already approved by the voters.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

A 'Square' To Be Admired

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old daughter is going with a 22-year-old fellow from one of the best families. The fellow called and asked me if our daughter could spend the night at his home. He said he anticipated a late evening and it would save a lot of driving.

I said no, we had never permitted that kind of an arrangement for her and did not approve. So the boy had his father call and try to talk us into letting her stay all night. Then his mother got on the phone and said our daughter would be THEIR house guest and they would be home. She argued and argued, making it very difficult for me to stick to my decision.

These people are supposed to be high society and leading citizens. I ended the conversation by saying that we wanted our daughter to spend her nights in her own home in her own bed. Are we "square"?

DEAR DOING: If you are "square", I want to be in all four of your corners.

DEAR ABBY: I envy the people who write and say they are TOO FAT. At least there is hope for them. They can always lose weight if they try hard enough.

But how about us girls who are TOO THIN? Don't tell me to drink malteds, take pills and see a doctor. I've tried everything and I am still painfully thin. My doctor said I was as healthy as a horse but I burn up my energy fast.

The worst part of it is that everyone tells me what a beautiful FACE I have. They always emphasize FACE, and it stops right there. Isn't there something new I can try?

NO PIN-UP

DEAR NO PIN-UP: Having tried everything, including a visit to your doctor, try accepting the fact that you are a "slim, slender, willowy" (never "painfully thin") woman. If you can't change the frame, upholster the clothes. Wear full skirts and tight wide belts; high colors and high necklines. At least you're a pin-up on the chin up. Count your blessings.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for ten months. Abby, I know the honeymoon isn't supposed to last forever, but should it be over in three weeks? Please answer this soon as I am very upset. I hope you understand what I am trying to get across. If I made it any plainer you couldn't put it in the paper.

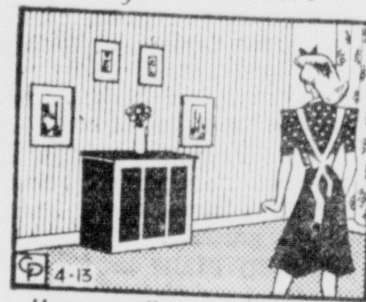

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: I suspect the only person who could advise you is a doctor. Take your problem AND your husband to him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PARENTS IN A QUANDARY": Give your daughter the same educational advantages as your son. An old Chinese proverb—and a good one to apply: "To raise a son without learning is raising an ass; to raise a daughter without learning is raising a pig."

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sesquicentennial . . A Look at the Past

WHY "CIRCLEVILLE"?

In 1803 Ohio became a state. Chillicothe was the first capital and also the county seat of Ross County.

Some of the counties were so large that, in 1810, it became advisable as a matter of transportation convenience between the various county seats to diminish their size.

Accordingly, abutting parts of Ross, Fairfield and Franklin counties were formed into a new county called Pickaway. A Shawnee word. The next step was to locate the county seat.

For this purpose the Legislature in session, in 1810, named three prominent citizens to select the site for the new town. These men were David Bradford, George Jackson and John Pollock.

They traversed the territory and finally located the place for the county seat in a densely wooded, circular bit of land surrounded by an earthen wall. There were towns of several hundred inhabitants within a few miles of this place. No one knows why this committee selected this Mound-builders inclosure.

THE FIRST written account of this circle and square is in the diary of David Jones, an itinerant minister who in 1763, made a short stay among the Shawnee Indians. Since his time archaeologists have described it, measured it and wondered at its use.

The Act of the State Legislature provided that the town should be laid out with a central area for public use and that eight streets should radiate from this area like the spokes from a hub of a wheel, and that these streets should be intersected by circular streets at given distances from the center of the area designed for public use.

An octagonal courthouse was built in the center of the circle. This spot is now marked by the intersection of Court and Main Streets.

The new county seat grew rapidly, and by the year 1836 had enlarged beyond its original boundary, and by 1853 there was little left to show that the town had ever intended to have circular streets and central public area.

The hardships of the time lessened any sentimental regard which the inhabitants had for the original plat of the town. There was much sickness in the early days and it was a continual struggle to enjoy a dry roof and a warm home.

All the inhabitants of Circleville now regret that the town was ever squared, but no censure falls upon the pioneers who so bravely encountered the hardships of a new country and they called their town 'Circleville'.

Displays

The new exhibit "Children Through the Years" is now open to the public in the display room in The First National Bank Bldg. There is space for more articles under this subject, such as clothing, furniture, toys, books.

Bring in what you have, the committee will appreciate your loan. Mrs. H. H. Swope, 915 Circle Dr. Phone GR 4-5690 is general chairman.

Springfield Transit

Firm Demands Fare Hike

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Springfield City Manager Roger Stilwell must either agree to raise city bus fares or Springfield Transit, Inc., will go out of service. The company gave Stilwell this ultimatum Thursday.

An ordinance calling for increases had its first reading last Monday in the commission meeting. The second reading and probable passage is expected Monday. The measure would raise adult fares from 15 to 20 cents, children's from 10 to 15 cents, and create tokens—15 cents for adults and 13½ cents for children.

2 Teenagers Face Prospect Of Execution

NEW YORK (AP) — Two teenagers known as the "Cape Man" and the "Umbrella Man" were convicted of first-degree murder Wednesday night in the knife slayings of two other youths in a westside tenement district.

The convictions carry automatic death penalties. Two other youths accused of the same crime were convicted on lesser counts.

The four were charged with killing Robert Young and Anthony Krzesinski in last summer's explosion of juvenile gang violence.

An all-male jury in General Sessions Court took about four hours to find Salvador (Cape Man) Agon, 16, and Luis Antonio (Umbrella Man) Hernandez, 17, guilty.

The jurors then deliberated about three more hours before convicting Francisco Cruz, 18, on two counts of first-degree manslaughter and one of first-degree assault, and Rogelio Soto, 17, on two counts of second-degree manslaughter and one of first-degree assault.

Views on Television-Radio

Editor's Note — All winter long Gardner McKay cruises television aboard the schooner Tiki in the ABC "Adventures in Paradise" show. So come summer and what does he do? He sails. Here he stands watch for vacationing TV-radio writer Cynthia Lowry.

Written For The Associated Press No one could ask for a more cooperative leading lady than we have in "Adventures in Paradise."

She's beautiful, trim, durable and easy to handle. She is a bit broad in the beam, but what can you expect of an 83-foot schooner?

I'm speaking, of course, of the Tiki whose bright sails and nice lines brighten ABC-TV every Monday night.

Some critics have suggested, rather scathingly, that I'm more at home behind the wheel of the Tiki than in front of a camera. But this is no time to debate that.

How Weather Looks Today

HOW WEATHER LOOKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Clear, cool weather prevailed over the state during the night, with temperatures at sunrise in the upper 50s or low 60s. Heavy fog formed along the Ohio River, reducing visibility to less than a half-mile in some sections.

Today, southerly winds will return to Ohio, with a slow increase in moisture that may produce thundershowers late this afternoon or evening in the west and north portions.

Saturday, under the influence of warm, humid air, scattered thundershowers can be expected in most areas.

Some temperatures this morning were 56 at Marietta, 64 at Mansfield, 59 at Columbus and Akron.

OHIO FIVE - DAY FORECAST Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 84 north to 87 south, normal low 62-64. Cooler Saturday night and Sunday, warmer again Tuesday or Wednesday. issue. It's summer, the warm, relaxing time when people gaze vacantly out of their office windows, dreaming of their vacations.

For me, there's no more fulfilling escape than to get out of sight of land on the blue water with a clean wind billowing the sails. The sea is always a challenge, and you're too busy enjoying the fierce combat it offers to mull over the problems you left astern.

I've always loved the sea and ships. Some of it is heritage, for my great-grandfather, Donald McKay of Boston, built such famous 19th Century clipper ships as the Flying Cloud and Sovereign of the Seas. But most of it is instinct.

As a boy I learned to sail on the Long Island Sound and will never forget the time I managed a trip alone in an open boat from Connecticut to Maine.

Soon we'll be back in production on "Adventures in Paradise" and will be doing more filming at sea on the Tiki than we did last season. This is fine by me.

Oregon Chief To Tap Nixon

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon will nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon for president at next week's Republican National convention.

The announcement was made at a news conference by Robert Finch, Nixon's administrative assistant.

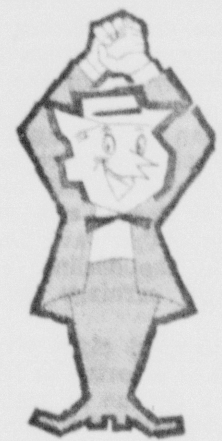

Finch described Hatfield as "an attractive young leader of the party" and a man with a "Western connotation."

Finch told newsmen that no final decision has been made thus far as to who will make the seconding speeches for Nixon at the Wednesday session of the convention.

He said Alabama, the first state in the alphabetical roll, will yield to Oregon to get the nomination in at the start.

Reactions Vary On Corporate Earnings Data

Wall Street Runs Both Hot, Cold on
First Half Reports

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Earnings reports of American corporations are blowing hot and cold on the stock market these days and also on the confidence of businessmen and consumers.

Record profits for the first half of 1960 jostle declines. Industries are sharply divided as to the upside and the downside. And within industries some giants show losses while their nearest competitors report gains over the first half of their previous fiscal year.

A sizable number of companies report record sales but lower net income after taxes, largely because of rising costs of doing business.

But in the first rush of half-year earnings three out of five companies are reporting a better profit year so far than last.

Cash dividends for the first six months of 1960 were 6½ per cent higher than a year ago, the Department of Commerce reports.

Most of the largest companies are yet to report, and many are in industries that have been hardest hit by the decline in output, sales and earnings in recent months.

For example, eight steel companies have reported so far, seven showing a decline in profits from 1959's first half. The drop for the group as a whole is 37 per cent, a poor augury for next week when the biggest steel companies report.

For another example, five out of seven railroads so far reporting show declines for a group drop of 26 per cent. And in the first five months of the year the Assn. of American Railroads estimated earnings of all roads with operating revenues of at least three million dollars a year trailing last year by 17 per cent. When the rest of the roads report for the entire six months the picture is unlikely to be brighter.

The 11 chemical companies reporting to date show three down and eight up, but giant Du Pont's 6 per cent drop brought the whole group down for a 4 per cent decline.

Some industries are doing very well. The electrical equipment makers so far are running 2 per cent ahead of last year, despite a drop reported by General Electric, the largest. This was offset by increased earnings by the second largest, Westinghouse.

Food companies are reporting increases this year, the meat packers showing up strong, for one. Textile and tobacco companies indicate earnings running ahead of a year ago, and so do makers of TV and radio sets.

When all reports for the entire first half are in, earnings are expected to be running close to what they were in the previous year, with very little percentage gain or loss looked for.

But the early reports, with a major sprinkling of companies in the more favored industries, are running well ahead of last year.

To date, 263 companies have reported for the first half of their fiscal year, for a total profit of $1,459,280,000, a gain of 16.6 per cent over the $1,251,373,000 earned by the same companies a year ago.

City Man's Ritual of Coffee Break Said Possible Lifesaver for Farmer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The coffee break—a daily ritual in many offices—might be a lifesaver on the farm, suggests state agriculture director Robert H. Terhune.

With Farm Safety Week starting Sunday, Terhune and other farm authorities are anxious to re-emphasize the dangers facing farm families, dangers which took the lives of 356 Ohio farm persons last year.

Terhune, who operates a farm himself, figures it this way: "Fatigue is a great danger.

From now until harvest, farmers are working long hours, often in extreme heat.

"It might not be a bad idea for us to adopt the coffee break that's so popular in the city or lemonade or plain cold water. The idea is just to take a little break. Get refreshed. Then go back to work."

Two farm safety experts at Ohio State University agree that this is a danger period for farmers. Richard H. Baker, associate professor of agricultural economics and rural sociology, points out that the accidental death rate for Ohio farm persons has been about 24 per cent higher during summer and early fall than during the rest of the year.

Baker and Wilbur E. Stuckey, University Extension Service safety specialist, have worked with the Vital Statistics Division of the State Health Department and other sources to come up with an interesting array of information about Ohio farm accidents.

They show that the same number of farm persons—356—were killed in 1959 and 1958, and that the average number killed annually for the period 1946-1959 is 419—more than one a day.

Motor vehicle accidents claim the most, followed by falls, tractors and other farm machinery, fires and burns, drownings, smothering and strangulation, trains, firearms and farm animals.

But while safety experts, Stuckey and Baker agree that the planting-cultivating-harvesting period is a dangerous time, they also point out that many fatal farm accidents occur in the home, most frequently during the winter months.

Stuckey says he thinks Ohio farm families are becoming more safety conscious because of the efforts of county agents, the 4-H program, Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America groups, agricultural instruction in schools and colleges, the Grange, Farm Bureau Federation, National Safety Council, Ohio Farm and Home Safety Committee (first of its type in the nation) and other agencies and individuals.

"The farmer," he says, "usually gets hurt at a time when he can least afford it."

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, which keeps farm safety specialist Elwood E. Sawyer on the road most of the time to talk with agricultural groups, is inclined to agree.

It processed 987 claims resulting from lost time (a day or more) in the Ohio agriculture industry in 1959, including claims for 11 fatalities, 27 cases of loss of member (finger, arm, eye, etc.), and 684 where more than a week of work time was lost. This compares with a total of 64,555 claims for compensation for the year for all industry in Ohio, including agriculture.

It might be added that not all claims for workmen's compensation was allowed.

The commission's Safety and Hygiene Division recently completed a study of lost time claims filed for youngsters under 18 employed in Ohio agriculture between 1955 and 1959. The number of lost days from the 381 claims (369 boys, 12 girls) amounted to 43,885, and five fatalities were noted—two last year.

"This is the time of year when farmers seek seasonal help," points out age director Terhune. "It's certainly very important that we take time to make sure they understand the job and the equipment. If not, they can be hurt or killed, and expose others to risk, also."

Palmer Sets Pace In PGA Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer headed for an unprecedented triple today as he led the 42nd PGA championship into the second round by a single stroke.

After being forced to birdie the last two holes to win the Masters, and coming from seven strokes off the pace to take the National Open, the Pennsylvania strong boy said: "It's nice to be out in front for once."

The Ligonier lad blazed a 34-35-67 over Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard par-70 layout, with four birdies and a bogey. He nosed out veteran Sam Snead who snared this championship 18 years ago and twice since.

The performances of the two long hitters featured the first day of this extravaganza in which the biggest PGA field in history is playing on the tournament's longest course for the biggest purse before the largest gallery. The first round's paid attendance was 10,225.

The long layout, its narrow fairways bordered by heavy roughs and crossed by streams and ponds, took a heavy toll, especially in the ranks of the club professionals for whom the showpiece was fashioned.

Only nine of the top 32 scorers are nontourists, the money-makers taking command of the first eight places and 15 of the leading 18. Just how many of the teaching pros will be around after today's cut to the low 90—with the cutoff slated at scores near 151—is problematical.

Palmer put together his round early and then let the starting field of 184 fire at his 67. Snead, 48, bothered by a hooking driver, came in late and made the biggest bid. Invited into the press tent for a chat with the scribes, the West Virginia slammer drawled: "Can't do it right now. Have to practice before I cool off."

Joining Palmer and Snead as the only parbreakers were Paul Harney, the slim tourist from Worcester, Mass., and veteran Freddie Haas of New Orleans, each with a 69. Bracketed at par 70 were Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., who tied for the runner-up spot last year; Don Fairfield, 31, of Casey, Ill.; Don January, 30, of Dallas, and sweet-swinging Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif.

Three club pros huddled into a 10-way tie at 71. The top teachers were John O'Donnell of Baltimore, Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., and Ed Griffiths, former Ohio Open champion from Youngstown.

Ben Hogan opened with a 74. Dow Finsterwald posted a 73, while other Ohio scores included a 75 by Frank Rebe of Canton, a 76 by Veri Stinchcomb of Portsmouth and an 80 by Charles Wiperman of Dover.

The 90 survivors of today's round will be cut to 60 for Sunday's 18-hole dash to the wire. All who complete the 72 holes will get a slice of the 60,000 purse. Last placers are expected to profit by something over $200.

Elks, Jets Post Wins

Undeclared Nines Meet Tomorrow

The Elks and Coca Cola continued to run away with the Little League majors last night with victories over Raiston Purina and The Herald respectively.

Elks downed Purina, 10-3, and Coca Cola edged The Herald, 9-8. The wins set the stage for another first place battle when the two nines meet at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow on the LL diamond.

The Coke Jets needed a four-run rally in the fifth inning and a five-run play in the sixth to stop a never-say-die Herald outfit.

The Jets jumped off to a 2-0 lead behind George Hill's first inning triple and Dale Bryd's second inning double. The Hawks notched a run in the third stanza on a hit batter, Johnny Young's single and an error.

HERALD tied the score in the top of the fourth, but Coca Cola took a 5-2 lead in the bottom of the fourth inning as Tom Wright led off with a single and Ricky Congrove and Larry Sykes followed with triples.

The Herald narrowed the score to 5-4 in the top of the fifth, but Coke plated four runs in the bottom of the same inning. Chester Hill started the rally with a triple, Ricky Sims doubled him home and later scored on singles by Congrove and Sykes.

Trailing 9-4 entering the sixth, The Herald got things going as Jim Strous walked. Jim Diltz followed with a two-run homer. Ricky Rowland singled. Merle Bethel reached base on an error to set the stage for Gary Hoffman's three-bagger.

Hoffman attempted to extend his triple into a home run, but was nipped at the plate by Sims' relay of George Hill's left field throw to catcher Chester Hill.

David Iery recorded the win, fanning eight and walking five. The loss went to Danny Gibbs. Jim Strous started, striking out five before Gibbs relieved in the fifth. The Herald committed four errors to Coke's three.

Bobby Dean hurled the Elks to a victory over Purina, scattering seven Miller hits. Phil Smith absorbed the Purina loss, allowing 10 hits.

JEFF Ankrom was the Elks slugging star, sending a three-run homer over the LL diamond fence to notch the Elks' third straight win of the second round.

Phil Smith pounded out a home run for the Millers. Daryl Reichelderfer hit a double for the Elks. Purina broke into the scoring column first on two errors, but from that point on, it was all Elks.

Four games are on tap today. At 5:15 p. m., Rotary (2-1) meets Circleville Oil (2-0) on the Southend Playground; Ward's Market (1-1) faces Blue Ribbon Dairy (1-2) on the LL diamond;

General Electric (3-0) takes on DuPont (1-2) on the softball diamond. At 7:30 p. m., Ashville (1-1) battles Kiwanis (3-0) on the softball diamond under lights.

Five games will be played tomorrow. At 8:30 a. m., Elks (3-0) meet Coca Cola (3-0) on the LL diamond and Circleville Oil meets Ward's Market on the Southend Playground.

Two contests start at 10:30 a. m. Purina (0-3) faces The Herald (0-3) on the LL diamond and First National Bank (0-3) goes against Lincoln Plastic (0-3) on the Southend Playground. At 5:15 p. m., Second National (0-3) meets Savings Bank on the softball diamond.

Due to Circleville Little and Babe Ruth League Night at Jet Stadium Monday, all games have been re-scheduled for the morning of July 30.

They are: First National vs Third National (2-2) at 8:30 a. m. on the LL diamond; Coca Cola vs. Purina at 8:30 a. m. on the Softball diamond.

Savings Bank vs. Circleville Oil at 10:15 a. m. on the LL diamond, and Kiwanis vs. General Electric at 10:15 a. m. on the softball diamonds.

Chambermen Rally Produces 7-6 Victory over Derby Unit

Chamber of Commerce, staging a courageous rally, scored a single run in the bottom of the eighth inning to edge Derby, 7-6, here yesterday in Babe Ruth baseball action.

With the game time limit almost at hand, Chamberman Bob Parker started the fireworks with a double to lead off the inning. Larry Smith followed with his third hit of the day.

Parker advanced on Smith's single, then came home on an error of Jeff Lutz's blow to give Chamber the victory.

Chamber of Commerce deadlocked the score at 6-6 in the sixth frame after Derby had pushed ahead 6-4 in the fifth.

CHAMBER drew first blood by scoring a single run in the first and two in the second. Derby forged ahead in the third with four runs on four hits.

The Derby nine padded its lead in the fifth with two more tallies, but Chamber narrowed the margin with a single tally in its half of the frame.

Neither team scored in the seventh. Derby failed to register a tally in the top of the eighth, but Chamber quickly gained new life on Parker's scorching two-bagger.

Lefty Jim Wells and right-hander Jeff Lutz combined for the win. They fanned six and walked five.

Guthrie and Warden handled twirling duties for Derby, giving up 10 hits, walking 11 and fanning three.

Smith, one of the most consistent hitters in the league, paced Chamber at the plate with three hits in four official trips. Two of his blasts were doubles.

JEFF Tracy, Charlie Brown and Darvin Conley had two hits each for Derby.

The win was the first for Chamber of Commerce in the second round. The defeat was the third straight for Derby.

Two babe Ruth games are scheduled today. General Electric meets DuPont at 5:15 p. m. and Ashville takes on Kiwanis at 7:30 p. m. Both games are on the softball diamond.

Pirate Catcher Plays Havoc in Dodgers' Park

4th Homer in 2 Days Chalked by Hal Smith In O'Malley Coliseum

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hal Smith is the Babe Ruth of the Los Angeles Coliseum. The Pittsburgh catcher plays screeno with Walter O'Malley's handy little gadget in left field like the man who invented the game.

Smith hit two more over the screen Thursday night in Pittsburgh's 4-1 victory over the Dodgers. The pair ran his season total to nine. Six of them have been hit at the Coliseum, four in the last two days.

As a result of Smith's home runs and a five-hit pitching job by Ver Law, who won his 12th, the Pirates again lead Milwaukee by 1½ games.

St. Louis gave the Bucs a helping hand in an afternoon game at Milwaukee where they broke the Braves' seven-game winning streak 9-4. A six-run rally in the sixth inning helped Larry Jackson win his 12th.

Philadelphia's Robin Roberts threw a one-hitter, blanking San Francisco 3-0. The only hit was an infield single by Felipe Alou with two out in the fifth.

Manager Gene Mauch disputed the official scorer's call on the single that robbed Roberts of his first no-hitter. Roberts took the ruling by scorer Jim McGee philosophically.

The single came on a ball hit at third baseman Joe Morgan. Stepping back to field the bouncer, Morgan stabbed the ball but fell to the ground. It was scored a base hit.

Bob Anderson pitched the last-place Chicago Cubs to an 8-1 victory over Cincinnati in the other National League game.

There was only one game Thursday in the American League. Detroit built up enough early lead to offset Washington's late home-run power and defeated the Senators 9-5.

Pittsburgh scored two in the third at Los Angeles on Roberto Clemente's single with the bases loaded. Smith hit No. 8 in the fourth and No. 9 in the seventh, both off Johnny Podres.

It was Law's third victory over the Dodgers and his third complete game against them in three starts. The right-hander had gone the route six straight times at the Coliseum since he was knocked out May 1, 1958.

The Cardinals, blanked Wednesday night by Warren Spahn, were held to one hit in the first five innings, but they rose up and chased Carl Willey in the big sixth. Bill White's two-run double with the bases loaded opened the gates. Jackson needed help from Lindy McDaniel when the Braves threatened in the seventh.

Jet Baseball Ticket Sale Ends Tomorrow

The Circleville Little League directors today reminded all Little and Babe Ruth League managers to return Jet Baseball Night tickets and money by Saturday night.

Managers are asked to collect money and unsold tickets from their players and turn them in to either League President Michael R. Harrison or Secretary-Treasurer James I. Smith III.

Circleville Little and Babe Ruth League Night at Jet Stadium is set for Monday night. The Columbus Jets will meet the Buffalo Bisons. Jackie Price, renowned baseball clown, will be on hand to entertain fans.

Ducats for the contest now are on sale from any league player, manager or director. A portion of each ticket sold goes toward the local Little League.

PARENTS, friends and relatives are urged to provide transportation for the players. All league participants will be admitted to the game free along with their manager.

They are asked to wear their uniforms so they may be recognized at the stadium. An auto caravan will leave Ted Lewis Park at 6:30 p. m. where everyone is to meet.

Tickets must be purchased before Saturday night. No ducats will be sold at Ted Lewis Park on Monday because they must all be returned Monday morning.

Despite Flops, Redlegs Plan No Changes

CINCINNATI (AP)—The slumping Cincinnati Reds got the same message a couple of times earlier this year, but General Manager Gabe Paul repeated it Thursday:

"The Reds' management is not considering any changes," he said, "despite the slump that has seized the club."

"We can only fight this thing through and hope to produce some better results."

"We are not going to bring up any younger players, but we will be constantly on the lookout for possible reinforcements."

Paul was talking after the last place Chicago Cubs plumed the Reds, 8-1.

Manager Fred Hutchinson shook up his lineup, replacing Eddie Kasko at third with Willie Jones, and moving Wally Pott to right field in Gus Bell's berth.

But the change didn't help much. Cincinnati got only seven scattered hits.

Jerry Lynch, replacing Post in left field, accounted for the Red's one run with a homer in the ninth.

Bob Anderson mowed down the first 14 batters he faced before yielding a Red hit.

The Cubs, meanwhile, combed Bob Purkey for eight hits, four runs, two hit batsmen and a balk in 6 1-3 innings.

Six Chicago runs paraded across in the seventh. Two walks around Ron Santo's single filled the bases, setting up George Altman's two-run single.

Bob Grim "relieved" and served up consecutive singles to Grady Hatton and Elvin Tappe for two runs, and another to Anderson, filling the bases again. Then Richie Ashburn singled in the final margin.

Purkey hit Ashburn, the first inning leadoff man, with a pitch and after Bob Will doubles and Ernie Banks walked, a forced put over one run.

In the sixth, Altman doubled, took third on an infield bounce and scored on Tappe's single.

U.S. Embarks On Policy To Call Red Bluff

The President announced Thursday night that the United States wants an early meeting of representatives of all 82 United Nations countries for urgent discussion of a way out of the arms race.

In a statement issued at the summer White House, Eisenhower said he had instructed Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, chief of the U.S. delegation to the U.N., to petition today for speedy revival of disarmament negotiations. Lodge arranged to do so.

In sounding his call for new talks by all U.N. members, Eisenhower recalled the Soviet delegates had walked out of the 10-nation disarmament negotiations at Geneva last month. At the time the United States was about to outline new proposals.

"Our efforts to get the Soviet Union to return to the conference table through normal diplomatic channels have not met with success," Eisenhower said.

"The need for disarmament in the present world situation is too important to set aside at the present time when deliberate efforts are being made to increase tensions."

That was an obvious allusion to the many-sided anti-American campaign the Soviet Union has been carrying on since Premier Nikita Khrushchev wrecked the Paris summit conference last May.

Eisenhower went on to say that under its charter the United Nations has primary responsibility in the disarmament field.

Then he announced that he had instructed Lodge to seek "an early meeting of the Disarmament Commission of the United Nations so that we and other members of the international community can continue to search for ways and means to achieve the universal desire to reduce the risk of war by controlled steps of disarmament." Such a meeting of the 82-nation membership requires a majority vote, at least 42 votes.

After the President's call Thursday night, U.N. diplomats expressed belief that the U.S. request for an early meeting would be approved.

However, many delegates — including some Western Allies — were extremely cool toward the idea.

These delegates expressed belief there appears to be little prospect for disarmament progress while the tension in East-West relations is mounting.

Milford Water Plant Claimed in No Danger

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—An engineering consultant has told officials of nearby Milford to stop worrying whether their waterworks is menaced by erosion due to the Little Miami River. Alfred Lefebvre & Associates reported Wednesday it will take 1,300 years of erosion at the average rate before the water plant is in danger.

The river has jeopardized several houses upriver from the water plant. The village asked for the study, to end uncertainty that might affect current sale of bonds.

U.S. Designers No Longer Ignore Figure

NEW YORK (AP)—New York designers are becoming resigned to the feminine figure. Instead of trying to rise above it, they now are working to cover it with glory.

Herbert Sondheim, for example, in his fall collection shown Wednesday to fashion editors here for press week, contrived costumes to flatter and refine but still to look remarkably like the woman underneath. He used long-drawn bodices, animated skirts, and adroitly fashioned necklines to achieve his purpose.

Sondheim was most preoccupied with the skirt. With the swingaway which flared from the hipline, and the fan flair, which flounced from below the hips, he launched a major offensive against the kind of adhesive, immobile, straight skirt that looks best on undernourished and smallboned adolescents.

In his dress and jacket costumes and separate dresses he attempted the slightly relaxed look—not, as he explained, "to be confused with that ugly word 'chemise,'" but definitely in the fashion picture."

Sondheim went all out on fabrics and colors but omitted the beading used so extravagantly by most other designers.

"Sewing on beads gives me palpitations," he admitted.

Warren Racketeer Appeals Conviction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Mike Farah, Warren racketeer figure, appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court today from his assault and battery conviction in Trumbull County Common Pleas Court.

Farah was charged with assault to kill Jean P. Blair, former county Republican chairman, as the result of a fight about a year ago over a $500 loan to Blair.

But Farah was convicted on the lesser charge and sentenced to four months in jail and fined $200. An appellate court affirmed the verdict and Farah appealed to the high court. The appeal automatically stayed execution of his sentence pending disposition of his case.

POWELL, Wyo. (AP)—A Powell businessman tested his new power lawn mower in his front room.

The demonstration was a success. It cut a neat short turf—somewhat shorter than the rug's nap.
